Wow that was a bunch of rain. We got 2-3" of rain from September 5th through the 8th. Then two weeks later we got 5.70" here at the shop. Somehow we squeezed fall aerification into that window. The cooler night and days are very welcome around here.

We used a small tine during aerification to remove less material and disrupt play the least amount as possible. Light sand was also applied to the greens to help speed up recovery. The green will be 100 percent healed up and ready to go on October 1st. We will begin a bi-weekly verti-cut/topdress plan starting the first week of October. This help with the removal of thatch and helps firm up the greens. I think the roller really helped smooth the greens after aerification and we will continue to use it this fall.

We have cut down the "Native" areas. I should have communicated this better to all of you. The plan was to let it grow up this summer and if we liked the look and play of it we would spray the weeds out and make it look better. So we like it and we will be spraying it out soon. After that the plan is to seed a more Native grass in there. A better grass will look natural and planned. You will love it, swear!

Tree trimming, fescue seeding and irrigation leak fixing will continue through October. We have overseeded a few driving range tees with rye grass. Please stay off of these tees until we remove the ropes. We will again seed some hitting areas down at the practice area also.

OU plays Texas this month. If OU loses, don't talk to me for 9 days after the game so I can watch game film and completely analyze what went wrong. After the 9 days I will send recommendation to the coaches and I'm certain they will appreciate it. The best thing about football as a fan, is you get put everything you have into something that means nothing.

See you out there!!!

TIPS FROM THE PROS

Connection between your body and arms is essential in repeating both direction and contact.

Inevitably when we have a couple of day lay off, sleep on the wrong side of the bed or drink too much coffee our swing can get out of rhythm. Knowing how to realign the system can make playing MUCH more fun.

Anytime the club, arms and body are disconnected, we need to start with the feet and balance. Start by making some soft swings standing with your feet completely together. If you are able to maintain balance at this pace, slowly begin to increase the speed. Make sure your are paying attention to staying centered and repeating solid footwork.

Next let's look at the arms. Place a towel or headcovers under your armpits and begin making slow swings. You should be able to get the club all the way to the top and finish with out dropping the headcovers. This will get your arms and club working with your body.

When we get the balance in sync and the upper body working with the arms, you're back on the map and headed down the fairway.
